

References

¹ Dvorak, J. (1998). Journalism student performance on advanced placement exams. Journalism & Mass Communication Educator, 53(3), 4–12.

Dvorak, J. (1988, Summer). High school publications experience as a factor in college-level writing. Journalism Quarterly, 65(2), 392–398.

Dvorak, J., & Choi, C. (2009, January 1). High school journalism, academic performance correlate. Newspaper Research Journal, 30(3), 75–89.

² Madison, E. (2012). Journalistic learning: Rethinking and redefining language arts curricula. Available online here.

Madison, E. (2015) Newsworthy: Cultivating Critical Thinkers, Readers and Writers in Language Arts Classrooms. New York: Teachers College Press – Columbia University.

Madison, E. (2015) Newsworthy: Cultivating Critical Thinkers, Readers and Writers in Language Arts Classrooms. New York: Teachers College Press – Columbia University.

³ Blinn, J. R. (1982). A comparison of selected writing skills of high school journalism and non-journalism students. Available online here.

Dvorak, J. (1988, Summer). High school publications experience as a factor in college-level writing. Journalism Quarterly, 65(2), 392–398.

⁴ Madison, E., Anderson, R. & Boussetot, T. (2019). Self-determined to write: Leveraging interest, collaboration and self-direction through a journalistic approach. Reading and Writing Quarterly DOI: 10.1080/10573569.2019.1579127